RECITES TALE OF FALSE PROMISES

James O'Donnell of Hancock County
Files Suit Against Anna Land
Clark of Mays.

WANTS DAMAGE AND RECEIVER

Declares She Promised to Marry Him and Then Deceived Him Gaining $2400.

It's a tale of woe and misfortune that James O'Donnell, a Hancock county farmer, recites in a complaint filed in the Rush circuit court against Mrs. Anna Land Clark, wife of a Mays barber, in which he asks damages and the appointment of a receiver. The suit was filed late yesterday evening, by the plaintiff's attorneys. Judge Blair read the complaint and refused to appoint a receiver without notice for such minor reasons that were set forth in the complaint. The hearing was set for this morning and later postponed until one week from tomorrow.

O'Donnell tells a story of promises unkept and deception in the complaint. He says that the defendant, then Anna Land, but now Mrs. Clark, and he had been engaged for two years. He, believing her to be sincere in her declaration of love, supported her father, according to the complaint. He further avers that, on account of his love and affection for her, she persuaded him to sell his farm in Hancock county and buy a rooming and boarding house in Indianapolis.

O'Donnell asserts that he invested $2400, the result of the sale of his land, in the house and placed his fiancée in charge. It was located at 410 East Market street in Indianapolis. He says that Mrs. Clark gave him a mortgage for the property but that it was never recorded. He declared he relied on her promise to marry him.

The plaintiff charges that the defendant was deceiving him all the time and that she never intended to marry him. After the execution of the mortgage, it is said in the complaint, that the defendant told O'Donnell to let her have it and she would pay him $750 on the total amount and the remainder in a short time.

O'Donnell declares that he delivered the mortgage to her and that she destroyed it and later sold the property for $1900. He further asserts that she married Clark, the Rush county man, on January fifteenth of this year. He also says that she sold the boarding house on time and has as yet received no part of the amount. O'Donnell also charges that Mrs. Clark accepted jewelry to the amount of $365 from him and has refused to return it. Watson, Tittsworth & Green are attorneys for Mrs. Clark.

Sheriff Clata Bebout recalls an incident of a few months ago which he believes had to do with the case which caused the court action to be taken. One day last summer a person in Indianapolis called the sheriff by telephone and said that O'Donnell was coming down here to shoot Clark, who, it is supposed, is the man Anna Land married. The person urged the sheriff to meet a certain I. & C. traction car and get O'Donnell before he committed the dastardly deed. The sheriff met the car but never saw the man.

WILL GO TO CONNERSVILLE

Local Masons Will Confer Royal Arch Degree.

Twenty-five members of Rush Chapter No. 24 R. A. M. will go to Connersville tonight where they will confer the Royal Arch degree on a class of candidates. The Connersville lodge will entertain several visiting lodges and this afternoon the degree team from Liberty had charge of the work.

MINISTERS WILL SPEAK OF ELECTION

Two Local Preachers Have Subjects
For Sunday, Dealing With the Saloon Question.

TAKE INTERESTING TOPICS

That two local ministers will talk upon the recent option election held in this city, from the pulpits Sunday, is evidenced from their subjects. At the morning service at the First Presbyterian church the Rev. J. B. Meacham will take for his subject "Is the World Growing Better?" In the evening he will talk upon "The Fate of a Good Young Man."

At the United Presbyterian church the Rev. A. W. Jamieson will take for his subject at the morning service "The Gates of Hell Assaulting the Church of Christ." In the evening he will speak on the topic, "Habakkuk and a Wet Nation."

ENTERTAIN GREAT CHIEFS AT MEETING

Lurline Council, No. 296, Degree of Pocahontas, is Hostess For High Officials.

SMALL CLASS IS ADOPTED

The members of Lurline Council, No. 296, Degree of Pocahontas, of this city entertained several great chiefs and the members of other councils here last evening. A class of five candidates were adopted into the order. Among the prominent officers here were Nanny Diggs of Muncie, Great Pocahontas; Stella Bird of Cambridge City, Great Winona; Jessie Cornell of Cambridge City, Past Pocahontas. Twenty-six members of Shawmut Council of Connersville were here as guests and enjoyed the evening immensely. Other guests were about thirty members of Mahoning Council of this city. After the work light refreshments were served.

EXAMINATION DAY.

Today was examination day in the high school, it being the close of a six weeks' term. Many students were exempted from the examinations by reason of their high grades and were allowed to enjoy a vacation today.

SISTER DIES.

Edward L. Jordan of this city has received word of the death of his sister, Miss Emma Jordan, which occurred at her home in Connersville yesterday morning. The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon.

FINLY GRAY IS SAFE ONCE MORE

Decatur County is Divorced From the Sixth District, So Congressman-
Elect May Have a Show.

MARION COUNTY NOT CHANGED

Rush is Joined With Franklin and Fayette in Senatorial District—
What's Next?

Despite the fact that he has been branded as an insurgent on account of many recent acts, Finly Gray of Connersville, representative-elect in Congress from the Sixth district, won a signal victory in the Democratic joint caucus held in the House chamber in Indianapolis last night by obtaining, through Senators Carleton and Shively and Lieutenant Governor Hall, a reapportionment of the Sixth district widely different from that originally proposed.

Under the reapportionment plan for the congressional district, adopted last night Marion county is not changed. The only change made in the Sixth is the removal of Decatur county from the Sixth district into the Fourth district. This change tends to make the Sixth, long a Republican district, more safely Democratic. It was declared after the caucus that Governor Marshall also had contributed his influence in Gray's behalf. The original proposed change, as advocated by Senator Sullivan and others, would have made the Sixth district heavily Republican.

The Cravens congressional apportionment bill, which is ready for third reading in the Senate, will be amended this morning with a substitute bill, replacing all except the enacting clause in the original bill, and changing the present apportionment only slightly. Marion county will not be molested and the Sixth district, for the preservation of which Congressman-elect Finly H. Gray has been fighting hard during the past week, will remain unchanged.

Senator Stotsenburg started the ball rolling which eventually brought defeat to the so-called radical plan, adopted Wednesday night. Senator Sullivan, much in favor of redistricting, so as to equalize the heavy population of Marion county, changed his tactics as the fight against the radical plan continued and finally consented to the draft adopted.

Senator McCarty, who fought hard against Representative Gray throughout the caucus, then proposed the adoption of the radical plan of apportionment, but his motion was tabled by a vote almost unanimous, when Senator Alkin entered the fight. The radical plan was abolished at this juncture and the slight changes agreed upon.

The majority Senate leader in his address pleaded for few changes in the apportionment, asserting that radical changes would hurt the Democrats far more than they would help the party. Senator Shively asked that there be no reapportionment. He said that it was unwise for the Democrats to attempt a gerrymander, as it would immediately be branded as such.

"We simply are saying to the people that we must gerrymander to aid the party over rough places," he said.

He and Senator Carleton and Lieutenant Governor Hall fought hard to save the Sixth district and the "fighting chance" for Mr. Gray. Senator Carleton said no Democratic aid of perpetual effect could be given to Marion county, because of the heavy chance that Indianapolis will go whichever way the political tide turns. Therefore, he argued, there

WAS RELEASED ON $500 BOND

William Cross Files Civil Action Today
Against John Johnson Demanding Possession of Farm.

MORE LIGHT ON THE SHOOTING

Case Will be Investigated by Grand Jury and Several Indictments
May Result.

John B. Johnson was arrested late yesterday afternoon on two affidavits filed by William Cross and William Hoard, charging him with shooting with intent to kill. Johnson was released on $500 bond and the case will be taken before the grand jury and investigated. It is probable that several indictments will be returned.

Today Cross filed suit in Squire Kratzer's court for possession of his farm, on which Johnson is a tenant and demands $100 damages. The case has been set for trial on next Thursday. In the complaint Cross says Johnson's leave ended March 1.

More light was thrown on the affair today when Cross told his side of the story. It seems as though Cross and Hoard were looking for trouble as they were well armed. Accompanied by Cross' son, Irwin, the three men went to the Cross farm to repair some fence. It is said that Johnson met them and ordered them away. Cross says Johnson made a move as if to draw a gun and then Hoard and himself covered Johnson, making him hold up his hands.

It is said that as soon as Cross and Hoard reached their buggy Johnson opened fire on them from behind a fence post. It was then that the two men did their part of the shooting. Hoard with the rifle, fired once, the bullet lodging in the post, behind which was Johnson. It is said Cross fired three or four shots from his revolver. That someone was not killed or injured is considered almost miraculous.

STARTS ON RACE AGAINST DEATH

Mrs. Will Price Leaves For Wabash to be at Bedside of Brother.

FATALLY HURT IN AN ACCIDENT

It was a race against death that Mrs. William Price expected to make last night, when she left here for Wabash to be at the bedside of her brother, John Humphrey, who was seriously hurt there yesterday morning. As near as could be learned here, Humphrey, who is a foreman in a strawboard works in Wabash, was hit in the head by a flying pulley and knocked unconscious. Mrs. Price received word that he was not expected to live and left at once. The details of the accident are very meagre. It is supposed that Humphrey is still alive as Mr. Price has received no word to the contrary.

FIRE KILLED TWO CAR LOADS STOCK

U. G. Beaver, Local Buyer, Received
Word From Cincinnati Concerning Disastrous Blaze.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $2800

U. G. Beaver, a local stock buyer, received word this morning from Cincinnati that two car loads of stock which he had shipped there had been destroyed by fire. Mr. Beaver left at once to adjust the loss. It is supposed the cars caught fire from a hot-box. His loss was estimated at $2800. In the two cars were 109 hogs, 7 head of cattle, 2 calves and 1 sheep. Mr. Beaver had shipped the stock to the Cincinnati stock-yards, the cars leaving here yesterday.

CLERKS GET TRANSCRIPT FEES

The Spencer clerks' and sheriffs' fee bill, legalizing the "in and out" fees formerly charged by county sheriffs, but discontinued since the law recently was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court, was passed by the House in Indianapolis yesterday by a vote of 91 to 2. The bill was amended to provide that "in and out" fees collected by county sheriffs should be turned into the county treasury instead of retained by the sheriff, as under the old law. The bill allows certain fees to county clerks, including transcript fees.

TO GET EVIDENCE IN CASE

Prosecutor Goes to Decatur County
Account Noble Trial.

Prosecutor Dennis O'Neil went to Greensburg this morning and from there expected to go into the neighborhood and vicinity where Albert Sprague, the wealthy Decatur county man was killed. He wished to get evidence for the trial of Ben Noble, who is charged with first degree murder. Two prominent Columbus attorneys have been retained by Mrs. Sprague to assist Mr. O'Neil and it promises to be a hard fought case.

TONY SCHRICHTE, NEW PRESIDENT

John Reardon, Vice-President; Will Feudner, Secretary, and G. P.
Hunt, Treasurer, Elected

OF MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

Proposed Changes in Constitution and By-Laws Are Adopted—
Smoker at Next Meeting.

Election of new officers for the ensuing year, adoption of vital changes in the constitution and by-laws so that, among other things, any resident of the city of Rushville might become a member and the discussion of plans for the future welfare of the association, the several members of the Rushville Retail Merchants' Association held one of the most profitable meetings in the year's life of the organization last night at the court house. The new officers elected are: Tony Schrichte, president; John Reardon, vice-president; Will O. Feudner, secretary; Geston P. Hunt, treasurer; L. L. Allen, Ben A. Cox, H. G. Hackman, Will M. Bliss, and Earl H. Payne, board of directors. One of the important changes in the constitution provides that the entrance fee be reduced to one dollar. The new president will appoint a new membership committee in a few days and they will start an active campaign at once for new members. It was arranged last night to hold a smoker at the next regular meeting, which will be held Thursday, March 16.

After the usual business was transacted, a bill for twenty sidewalk decorative lights at $51 each was read. The bill was referred to the light committee with instructions to inspect the lights completed and report to the president or secretary, in case no complications arose, in which case a meeting of the board of directors is to be called.

The adoption of the changes in the by-laws and constitution, as arranged at the last meeting, and which was published in full in the Daily Republican at that time, was a special order of business. The proposed changes were adopted without a dissenting voice with the exception of one amendment, providing that the entrance fee be reduced to one dollar, which was passed by acclamation.

Secretary Wolcott reported that he had written to the Detroit man, mentioned at the last meeting, stating the conditions under which Rushville wished to locate factories and what kind they wanted. He also said that he had written to the Bush foundry owners at Cambridge City, it being understood that they want a new location.

Earl H. Payne moved that L. L. Allen vote the entire ballot of the association for the present officials and continue them in office for another year. Frank Wolcott, secretary, was on his feet in an instant and said that he believed there were very many capable men, who should be given an opportunity to work at the job. He said if there was any blame attached to the officials for the manner in which they had conducted the association, that he was willing to bear his share. Ben A. Cox, president, said that he would not serve any longer as he felt that someone else should be given a chance. He declared that he was willing to do all that he could to advance the interests of the association and that he would serve on any committee to which he was appointed.

Floyd Hogsett nominated L. L. Allen for president and Earl Payne withdrew the previous motion. Jack

Lesson X.—First Quarter, For
March 5, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings ii, 1-13.
Memory Verses, 11, 12—Golden Text,
Gen. v, 24—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

As we come to Elijah's farewell to earth for the present we might with great profit review and ponder his direct messages from the Lord, which, if I have counted correctly, were just eight (I Kings xvii, 2, 8; xviii, 1; xix, 9, xxi, 17, 28; II Kings i, 3, 15). In the previous chapter in connection with the messages from heaven to Elijah notice how God observes all that is done for or against Him, and also how He tells His servants when to go or stay, "The ways of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and He pondereth all his goings" (Prov. v, 21). Note the fire from heaven in chapter 1, 10, 12, and compare Rev. vi, 5.

We should have noticed in last lesson the penitence of Ahab and the Lord's forbearance and long suffering (I Kings xxi, 27-29). Truly He is not willing that any should perish (II Pet. iii, 9).

Now we came in our lesson of today to something wholly unique in the Bible story, for, although Enoch also was translated, we have no record of the incidents connected therewith. Only these two have ever left the earth without dying, but a great company will have this privilege when Jesus shall come to the air for His church (I Cor. xv, 51, 52; I Thess. iv, 16-18). There is a fearful record in Rev. xix, 20, of two men who shall be cast into the lake of fire without dying.

This lesson story of the translation of Elijah and the beautiful devotion of Elisha is one of the most fascinating in Scripture and intensely practical. They are more intimately associated here than anywhere else, and their names, which are mentioned over twenty times in our lesson and signify "My God is Jehovah" and "My God is salvation," are so suggestive of Him with whom they both walked.

Elisha's oft repeated "As the Lord liveth and as thy soul liveth I will not leave thee" (verses 2, 4, 6) remind us of the devotion of Ruth to Naomi and of Ittai to David for the sake of the God of Israel (Ruth i, 16, 17; II Sam. xv, 21).

The expressions "So they went," "So they came," "They two went on," "They two stood," "They two went over," "They still went on and talked" (verses 2, 4, 6, 7, 8, 11), suggest to us the possibility of such a fellowship with the Lord Jesus Christ Himself, seeing no one but Jesus only with ourselves and so occupied with Him that we shall be blind and deaf to all but Him (Mark ix, 8; Acts xxii, 11). The four places mentioned are easily suggestive of different stages of Christian experience, Gilgal reminding us of the reproach of Egypt rolled away, the past under the blood (Josh. v, 9, 10). Bethel tells of visions of God, ministering angels, etc.; Jericho was where the new captain appeared to Joshua, and the thirteenth round of the city brought down the walls.

All this indicates progress in the divine life, but there is always more for us to enjoy, and we will increasingly possess our possessions if we whole heartedly follow on (Obad. xvii; Hos. vi, 3).

To Elijah's question, "Ask what I shall do for thee," Elisha promptly replied, "Let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me" (verse 9). When Elijah considered what he had passed through we do not wonder that he said to the man who wanted a double portion of his spirit, "Thou hast asked a hard thing." Few are filled with the spirit just for that reason. It is a hard thing—not hard for God to grant, but for us to be willing to receive, according to Luke xiv, 26, 27, 33. Many are called, but few are chosen, for the same reason.

I have often tried to picture these two men as they walked on together. We may not know which way Elijah looked, but there can be no doubt about Elisha, for his receiving his heart's desire depended upon his seeing Elijah when he was taken from him. How could there be a more steadfast beholding of a person? If we looked up as steadfastly into heaven as Stephen did (Acts vii, 55) there would be more of Jesus seen in our lives.

Well, the whirlwind came, and the horses and chariot of fire, and Elijah was taken, and Elisha saw it, and, rending his own mantle in two pieces, he took up the mantle of Elijah that fell from him and went back and stood by Jordan. Elijah is gone, but not so the God of Elijah.

With the mantle of Elijah he smote the waters and said, "Where is the Lord God of Elijah?" The waters divided, and Elisha went over, and the sons of the prophets who were watching said, "The spirit of Elijah doth rest on Elisha." Some people took knowledge of Peter and John that they had been with Jesus, and there should be a savor of Him in the lives of all His people (Acts iv, 13; II Cor. ii, 14, 15). To the sons of the prophets' persistent plea that they might go and search for Elijah, Elisha finally yielded. They returned after three days of vain searching and confessed that they could not find him. There may be such searching when the church has been taken. We next see Elijah in Matt. xvii alive and well.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week
Beginning March 5, 1911.

Topic.—Lessons from great lives.—III. Moses.—Ex. iii, 1-14. (Consecration meeting.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The life of Moses is more easily outlined than that of any other of the ancient Jewish patriarchs. It is divided by years—and each division opens a new period in his life—into three equal parts. He died at the age of 120 years. The first forty years of his life were spent in Egypt, the second forty in Midian at the home of a relative called Jethro and the last forty years in the wilderness, leading the children of Israel in their wanderings, when God brought them to the west shore of the Jordan, whence they were to enter Canaan, but without Moses because of his disobedience and hastiness on a certain part of the journey in the wilderness. Then from Mount Nebo he was permitted to look over into the promised land. But there he died, and God buried him on the lonely mountain when he had seen the promised land, but was not destined to enter, though it must have been the chief desire of his heart. But one sin, one act of disobedience, disbarred him, as many are shut out from the heavenly Canaan.

A glimpse of Moses' life may not be unprofitable.

1. He spent forty years in Egypt. He was born when Hebrew males under two years of age were to be put to death to decrease the population of a foreign people in Egypt. Joseph and his work of saving the nation had been forgotten. Egypt feared an internal uprising of this ever increasing nation or with any outside enemy, which would mean Egypt's sure defeat; hence the edict to kill the male children. Moses escaped and was raised in the king's palace by the clever action of his mother. Here he received a fine education, which was undoubtedly God's purpose in saving him as he did, that he might possess the knowledge which was necessary for the great work which God had for him to do. When forty years old Moses was told his mission and began at once and alone by killing an Egyptian. The next day he fled from his task and went to the land of Midian.

2. Moses in Midian. Here he lived with Jethro for forty years, became acquainted with God, who appeared to him. The purpose of God in sending him to Midian was to calm his disposition, and when God called him again he had become the meekest of meek and tried to give excuses. But God answered all his excuses, and at last the second period of his life was over, and he returned to Egypt to demand by the order of God that Israel under his leadership be allowed to leave the land. At last, God having sent ten plagues upon the Egyptians, the king granted his request, though he again repented, followed with his army, which died in the Red sea.

3. The third period of forty years was spent in the wilderness, leading the people here and there until all had died who started from Egypt, except Joshua, Caleb and Moses. They spent a long time at Mount Sinai when the people, hitherto only a mob, were formed into a state and a church. The tabernacle was made; public worship was inaugurated. God here gave Moses the Ten Commandments on tables of stone. Laws to govern the people were also made, and Moses became the greatest lawgiver in the world's history. Moses was one of the world's great men. With but one exception he was faithful to every command of God. From a quick tempered man he became the meekest of men by the lesson he learned in Midian. His life may well be studied as one of those that lift up the lives of others.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. ii, 1-10, 11-25; iii, 15-22; iv, 1-18; xiv, 10-18, 27-31; xv, 23-27; xvi, 1-8; xviii, 17-27; xx, 1-20; xxxiv, 1-12; Heb. xi, 24-31.

Hard on the Long Faces.

If any of those misguided pessimists who are going around with long faces croaking, "Oh, the conventions are not what they used to be," "Christian Endeavor is losing its power," "We don't find the enthusiasm of former days," had been with me on this convention round I think they would have sung a different time. Still, I am not sure. It is hard to teach a pessimist anything. Present day facts have little weight with him. "The former days" are always "better than these." His golden age is always in the past. Let him live in the past if he will. Christian Endeavor lives in the present and the future.—Francis E. Clark, D. D.

MORE BANK ROBBERIES

This Time the Town of Matthews Is the Scene of Their Operations.

Marion, Ind., March 3.—The Farmers State bank of Matthews was entered by robbers, the safe blown and $3,000 taken. A horse and buggy were stolen from Frank Kirkwood, a farmer, and with this the robbers escaped with their loot. They pried open a rear door of the bank building and presumably worked the combination on the safe. The money drawer was then blown open by a charge of nitroglycerine. The force of the explosion twisted and bent the iron of the safe, and only one person in Matthews heard it.

Senator Kern's Secretary. Terre Haute, Ind., March 3.—Claude Bowers of this city has been appointed private secretary to Senator-elect John W. Kern. Mr. Bowers is a member of the board of public works of Terre Haute, and was twice a candidate for congress in the Fifth district.

Claiming to have seen a vision of his dead wife and being commanded by her to join her, Samuel Schwartz, aged seventy-two, at Sharon, Pa., tried to carry out her request by taking morphine, but was revived.

Mrs. Paul Kimball, daughter of former United States Senator Frank J. Cannon of Utah, a deposed apostle of the Mormon church, is dead at Chicago from the effects of morphine poisoning.

FOOLISH JOKE ENDED
IN ONE BROKEN HEAD
And It is a Wonder There Were Not More.

Trenton, N. J., March 3.—A practical joke which nearly resulted seriously was perpetrated at a dinner given at the Trenton Country Club. Among the diners were leading business men of Trenton and an official of the New Jersey state hospital for the insane, whose grounds are adjacent to those of the club. While the dinner was in progress this official received a 'phone call which he said conveyed the information that the inmates of one of the violent wards had escaped.

About fifteen minutes after the doors of the room in which the dinner was held were smashed in and fourteen men attired in straw hats, linen dusters and carrying clubs and farm implements burst in. The diners thought they were being attacked by escaped lunatics. Colonel M. R. Margerum seized a bottle and dealt one of the intruders a blow over the head. The supposed lunatic fell and for a time it looked as if there would be a real fight. The joke was finally explained, although not to the entire satisfaction of all the guests.

Backache Means Dying Kidneys

A Remarkable Treatment That Saves the Kidneys. How You May Cure Yourself Quickly and Thoroughly.

With the progress of science comes one remarkable treatment for kidney diseases. It has been so thoroughly tested and its results have proven so revolutionary that a well-known firm in Michigan has undertaken its distribution into every part of the country. Those who suffer from kidney trouble and the diseases resulting from it will be pleased to know that every package of this treatment is thoroughly guaranteed. This should assure at last a positive cure to every sufferer.

Every man and woman should know that backache is usually a well-defined symptom of advancing kidney disease which may end fatally unless treated in time; that rheumatism and bladder trouble are caused from nothing more than kidney trouble; that dropsy, Bright's disease, diabetes and bladder-stones are caused by bad kidneys. Once they are made to work properly, these diseases should quickly disappear.

This is done by the new treatment, Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills.

We urge everyone who has pain in the small of the back, profuse or scanty urination, pains in the bladder, cloudy or foul urine, not to fail to get a package today of Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and drop all other kidney treatments. Senator Stevenson, of Washington, writes from Olympia: "There is no question about the efficacy of Dr. Derby's Pure Kidney Pills in curing kidney and bladder trouble. I know whereof I speak."

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are now sold at all drug stores—60 pills—10 days' treatment—25 cents, or direct from Derby Medicine Co., 100 Rapid Mich. If you would like to try them first, ask your druggist for a free sample package. Then buy a package; you will not regret it.

Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists.

What Tonics Are.

When the papers are full of advertisements for this or that great tonic, people are apt to be tempted to try them, but it does not take long to discover that after all there is nothing equal to Sexine Pills for any form of nerve weakness in men and women. We seldom find anybody who can say he or she was cured by this or that wine, extract or liquor, but almost any one can testify to the great nerve and body building qualities of Sexine Pills. Sexine Pills are absolutely guaranteed. Each box has a cash coupon in it. They cost $1 a box, 6 boxes for $5. Four months' treatment for $5. Sold by Hargrove & Mullin, druggists where they sell all the principal remedies and do not substitute.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait For the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Rushville People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swelling below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when you'd old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Rushville prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. Jacob Roth, West First street, R. F. D. No. 4, Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been a standard remedy in my family for the past two years and I am firmly convinced that there is no other kidney medicine on the market equal to it. We have taken Doan's Kidney Pills time and time again and they have never failed to give relief from kidney and bladder trouble. I have such great faith in the curative powers of this preparation that I never fail to speak a good word for it when I hear anyone complaining of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

If the Legislature's session continued another week, it would not be a foolish prediction to assert that Finly Gray might be placed in such a position that he would not be able to serve the term in Congress to which he is already elected.

The Democratic legislature is drawing to a close and a little retrospection will bring to light that the Democratic rule has accomplished little or nothing. They have legislated on very little other than the liquor question. That question they have placed among the fine arts. They have legislated the liquor question until it is worn and frayed and in a much worse condition. They have passed measures on that subject that are so beneficial to the brewery interests with whom they seem to have formed a pact, that the good Democrats have renounced the Democratic party. Many stalwart Rush county Democrats have thrown up their hands in disgust. A local Democratic official said yesterday evening, "I am done with the Democratic party in Indiana forever. They need never ask me for their vote again."

The general consensus of opinion is that the Legislature, instead of aiding the liquor interests, has injured their future. They have merely paved the way for State wide prohibition which will come sooner or later.

The Rushville Retail Merchants' Association began a new year at last night's meeting which promises a bright future for Rushville. The merchants who have attended the meetings regularly, postponing all other engagements and placing nothing before the organization, are enthusiastic about Rushville and believe that there is much of good here that will interest manufacturers once the ball is rolled in the right direction. The merchants began last night to carry out plans of importance and will attempt to make the new year a much more prosperous one than the one preceding. They will start a campaign for new members, as soon as the membership committee is appointed, and will endeavor to advance everything that is beneficial to the interests not only of the merchants but of every resident of Rushville.

The wrong impression has gone broadcast concerning the mission of the association. There is a prevailing opinion that the Retail Merchants' Association was organized purposely to keep prices of food stuff and all other retail material high. That is entirely wrong. The merchants have never so much as mentioned such a question as prices among themselves. They have never thought of collusion among themselves to the injury of their customers. They have the interest of Rushville as a whole at heart and it is to that end they are working. They wish to advance the civic, industrial and moral interests of the city. It is primarily an industrial club and not an association for merchants alone. The merchants are to be benefited no more by the improvement of Rushville than are the real estate owners, professional men and manufacturers. It is to that end that the members of the association have revised the constitution and by-laws, which will allow the admittance of any resident of Rushville who is interested in the future welfare of the city. With this same end in view the entrance fee has been reduced from $2.50 to $1.00.

It is useless to enumerate the many things that the association has accomplished in its first year of life. Everyone is acquainted with those things. It promises to do more in its second year of life and grow in efficiency as the years pass.

New and active officers were elected at the meeting last night to carry on the work that the retiring officers have so ably handled and the association goes before Rushville with a rosy future, asking for other citizens to join its ranks.

HORSE SALE IS SUCCESS

Bell Auction at Mays Attracts Large Crowd.

The third annual horse sale of George H. Bell, which was held in Mays, Monday, February 27, 1911, was by far the largest, and most satisfactory yet held. The afternoon sale of horses amounted to over $6,000, the first 12 averaging $248. The popularity of his special train service on account of his sales, is growing to such an extent that buyers are attracted from Indianapolis to Richmond, and from Muncie to Liberty and Greensburg, together with his well known motto of, "If it's not as represented it's my horse," has shown its effect. He already proposes to make even a larger and better sale next year.

HOW TO GET RICH.

The men who are rich today, were, in nine cases out of ten, poor in early life. Their earnings were at first very small, but their expenses were still less. The difference was carefully saved, deposited in some safe place, and made to yield interest, and thus foundations were slowly and securely laid for large accumulations. It is in this way that the money has been raised to pay for the comfortable dwellings owned and occupied, in so many cases, by the industrious, sun-bronzed and hard-handed artisans and farmers of our county and State.

"Luck," "good fortune" have much less to do with it than many imagine. When a man begins to spend less than he makes "good fortune" begins.

should be no change in the Seventh district at the expense of the Sixth.

The legislative reapportionment was practically decided, although changes in three districts probably will be made before the Leib bill which passed the House on Wednesday, passes the Senate. It was agreed last night that the Lieb bill which was advanced in the Senate yesterday to third reading, should be the one to go through. The caucus amendments, however, were added today by striking out everything in the Lieb bill except the enacting clause and substituting other provisions, which embrace practically the same changes as those contained in the Grube legislative reapportionment measure.

The last change provides that Fayette, Franklin and Rush counties shall be joined together to elect a State senator. Yesterday it was Rush, Hamilton and Hancock, and previous to that time it has been Hancock, Rush and Fayette. The new bill provides that Rush county will still be allowed to elect a State representative all alone.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will present two subjects tonight in the Lubin film. The first is "Mr. Schultz Has the Small-pox," and the other, "Getting Even." Both are comedies and are said to be very high class. Earl Robertson will sing a new illustrated song.

The first picture at the Vaudet will be a Nestor drama entitled, "The Boys of Topsy Turvy Ranch." The other picture is a Powers photoplay, "Within an Inch of His Life." The scenes in this film are very thrilling, and the details are given complete. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Star Grand will offer an Imp film tonight entitled, "Phone 1707 Chester." The wife unexpectedly walks into a banquet room just when her husband is drinking a toast out of a woman's slipper. This is followed by a novel situation in a Turkish bath establishment. The whole film tells a great story, points a good moral and has a happy ending. Miss Blanche Wrennick will sing, "Since I Fell in Love With Mary."

Charles Frohman will present the three act fantastical musical comedy, "The Arcadians" at English's opera house, Indianapolis, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 6, 7, and 8, including a Wednesday matinee. This delightful production comes here from a year's run in New York City, with the original cast and scenery. London, New York, Chicago and Boston have greeted with enthusiasm the daintiness and charm of this delightful musical comedy with its exquisite melodies and its rippling fun. The theme is one that lends itself readily to all that is best in the way of a scenic and musical production and Mr. Frohman has surpassed all other efforts in the easting and staging of this altogether delightful entertainment. Historically, the Arcadians lived in a beautiful country in the heart of Greece. The sin and sorrow of the outside world never reached them. They abhorred untruth and when James Smith, a London restaurant keeper fell among them and told a lie, he was thrown into the Well of Truth and emerged an Arcadian in thought and dress. Owing to the elaborate musical program, the curtain will rise promptly at eight o'clock in the evening and 2 p. m. at the matinee.

Listen! Just see how nicely his Clothes Fit!

IN contemplating the purchase of a suit of clothes, be particular as to where you buy it, what clothes you select, and whether it is this year's style or not. You don't buy a new suit every day and you will wear a suit many times before you discard it, and the comfort you will receive will be in the fact that it suits you.

There is nothing so discomforting as the thought of buying a suit that does not suit you, but because you paid your good, hard earned money for it, feel compelled to wear it, always carrying the thought when wearing it that you were stung. I would certainly feel like refunding the money to the man who felt that he was stung in my shop. Try Betker's Clothes Shop once and you will always be its customer.

A Little Business Romance of the Banana Trade

By O. HENRY

(Copyright by Ainslee Magazine Co.)

It was an hour before the consul came. He was a spectacled young man, a greedy botanist who was utilizing his office to study the tropic flora. He held a green umbrella under his arm, and mopped his forehead impatiently.

"Now, see here, Maloney," he began, capotously, "you fellows seem to think you can cut up any kind of row, and expect me to pull you out of it. I'm neither the War Department nor a gold mine. This country has its laws, you know, and there's one against pounding the senses out of the regular army. You Irish are forever getting into trouble. I don't see what I can do. Anything like tobacco, now, to make you comfortable—or newspapers—"

"Son of Eli," interrupted Dicky, gravely, "you haven't changed an iota. That is almost a duplicate of the speech you made when old Koen's donkeys and geese got into the chapel loft, and the culprits wanted to hide in your room."

"Oh, heavens!" exclaimed the consul, hurriedly adjusting his spectacles. "Are you a Yale man, too? Were you in that crowd? I don't seem to remember any one with red—any one named Maloney. Such a lot of college men seem to have misused their advantages. One of the best mathematicians of the class of '91 is selling lottery tickets in Belize. A Cornell man dropped off here last month. He was second steward on a guano boat. I'll write to the Department if you like, Maloney. Or if there's any tobacco, or news—"

"There's nothing," interrupted Dicky, shortly, "but this. You go tell the captain of the Catarina that Dicky Maloney wants to see him as soon as he can conveniently come. Tell him where I am. Hurry. That's all."

The consul, glad to be let off so easily, hurried away. The captain of the Catarina, a stout man, Sicilian born, soon appeared, shoving, with little ceremony, through the guards to the jail door. The Vesuvius Fruit Company had a habit of doing things that way in Puerto Rey.

"I am exceedingly sorry—exceedingly sorry," said the captain, "to see this occur. I place myself at your service, Mr. Maloney. Whatever you need shall be furnished. Whatever you say shall be done."

Dicky looked at him unsmilingly. His red hair could not detract from his attitude of severe dignity as he stood, tall and calm, with his now grim mouth forming a horizontal line. "Captain De Lucco, I believe I still have funds in the hands of your company—ample and personal funds. I ordered a remittance last week. The money has not arrived. You know what is needed in this game. Money and money and more money. Why has it not been sent?"

"By the Cristobal," replied De Lucco, gesticulating. "It was dispatched. Where is the Cristobal? Off Cape Antonio I spoke her with a broken shaft. A tramp coaster was towing her back to New Orleans. I brought money ashore thinking your need for it might not withstand delay. In this envelope is one thousand dollars. There is more if you need it, Mr. Maloney."

"For the present it will suffice," said Dicky, softening as he crinkled the envelope and looked down at the half inch thickness of smooth, dingy bills. "The long green!" he said, gently, with a new reverence in his gaze. "Is there anything it will not buy, captain?"

When the captain had departed Dicky called the sergeant of the jail squad and asked:

"Am I preso by the military or by the civil authority?"

IN TWO MINUTES

Easy and Quickest Way to Break Up A Cold.

If you want instant relief from cold in head or chest, or from acute catarrh, try this:

Into a bowl of boiling hot water pour a teaspoonful of HYOMEI, (pronounce it High-o-me) hold your head over the bowl and cover head and bowl with towel. Then breathe the pleasant, penetrating, antiseptic vapor deep into the lungs, over the sore, raw tender membrane and most gratifying relief will come in a few minutes.

Druggists everywhere will sell a bottle of HYOMEI for 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle Hyomei inhalant.

Don't be stubborn. Don't be prejudiced. There is not a particle of morphine cocaine, or any injurious or habit forming drug in HYOMEI.

Give it a trial at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s risk. They guarantee it. It is made of eucalyptus and other grand antiseptics. It will chase away the misery of catarrh or any affliction of the nose and throat in a few minutes.

You can get a trial sample free by writing Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Surely there is no martial law in effect now, senior."

"Bueno. Now go or send to the alcalde, the Juez de la Paz and the Jefe de los Policios. Tell them I am prepared at once to satisfy the demands of justice." A folded bill of the "long green" slid into the sergeant's hand.

So, that night Dicky sat by the window of the room over his shop and his little saint sat close by, working at something silken and dainty. Dicky was thoughtful and grave. His red hair was in an unusual state of disorder. Pasa's fingers often ached to smooth and arrange it, but Dicky would never allow it. He was poring, tonight, over a great litter of maps and books and papers on his table until that perpendicular line came between his brows that always distressed Pasa. Presently she went and brought his hat, and stood with it until he looked up, inquiringly.

"It is sad for you here," she explained. "Go out and drink vino blanco. Come back when you get that smile you used to wear. That is what I wish to see."

Dicky laughed and threw down his papers. "The vino blanco stage is past. It has served its turn. Perhaps, after all, there was less entered my mouth and more my ears than people thought. But, there will be no more maps or frowns tonight. I promise you that. Come."

They sat upon a reed silleta at the window and watched the quivering gleams from the lights of the Catarina reflected in the harbor.

Presently Pasa ripped out one of her infrequent chirrups of audible laughter.

"I was thinking," she began, anticipating Dicky's question, "of the foolish things girls have in their minds. Because I went to school in the states I used to have ambitions. Nothing less than to be the president's wife would satisfy me. And, look thou, red plearoon, to what obscure fate hast thou stolen me!"

"Don't give up hope," said Dicky, smiling. "There was a dictator of Chili named O'Higgins. Why not a President Maloney of this country? Say the word, and I'll make the race. We'll capture the Irish vote, easy running, by a head."

II.

The Vesuvius Plays.

The banana republic of Costaragua has, practically, two capitals. The one officially recognized is San Mateo, seventy miles in the interior. But, during the hot season, from May to October, the entire administration removes to Puerto Rey, where the sea breeze renders the pursuit of business and pleasure possible. Custom had so established this annual hejira of the executive that a commodious government building had been erected on the beach at Puerto Rey for the use of the president and his official family during their sojourn.

But now, this year, though the middle of May was almost come, the heart of the people was not stirred to the customary joyous preparation. Throughout the entire republic there seemed to be a spirit of silent, sullen discontent. The administration of President Zarilla had made him far from a popular idol. Fresh taxes, fresh import duties, and, more than all, his tolerance of the outrageous oppression of the citizens by the military had rendered him the most obnoxious president since the despised Alforan.

But the most impolitic of the administration's moves had been when it antagonized the Vesuvius Fruit Company of New Orleans, an organization plying twelve steamships, and with a cash capital something larger than Costaragua's surplus and debt combined. Naturally, an established concern like the Vesuvius would become irritated at having a small, retail republic with no rating at all attempt to squeeze it. So, when the government proxies applied for subsidy they encountered a polite refusal. The president retaliated by clapping an export duty of one real per bunch on bananas—a thing unprecedented in fruit growing countries.

An emissary requested an interview with a representative of the company. The Vesuvius sent Mr. Franzoni, a little, stout, cheerful man always whistling Verdi. Senior Ortiz, secretary to the Minister of Finance, attempted the sandbagging in behalf of Costaragua.

Senior Ortiz opened negotiations by the announcement that the government contemplated the building of a railroad to skirt the alluvial coast lands. After touching upon the benefits such an improvement would confer upon the interests of the Vesuvius, he reached the definite suggestion that a contribution to the road's expense of one hundred thousand pesos would not be more than an equivalent to benefits received.

Mr. Franzoni denied any benefits from the contemplation of a road. He was authorized, however, to offer a contribution of five hundred to the contemplators.

I will be in Rushville this week. Leave all orders at Scanlan House, 30313 F. W. PORTERFIELD.

Did Senior Ortiz understand Mr. Franzoni to mean five hundred thousand?

By no means. Five hundred pesos. And in silver; not gold.

"Your offer insults my government," said Senior Ortiz, rising indignantly.

"Then," cried Mr. Franzoni, in a warning voice, "we will change it!" The offer was never changed. Mr. Franzoni must have meant something else.

So, when the fifteenth day of May arrived the signs were that the presidential advent would not be celebrated by unlimited rejoicing.

President Zarilla was a little, elderly man, grizzled bearded, with a considerable ratio of Indian blood revealed in his cinnamon complexion. As he was assisted into his carriage, his sharp, beady eyes glanced around for the expected demonstration of welcome, but he faced a stolid, unthused array of curious citizens. Sightseers the Costaraguans are by birth and habit, and they turned out to the last able-bodied unit to witness the scene, but they maintained an accusive silence.

At length, after a prodigious galloping and curvetting of red-sashed majors, gold-laced colonels and epauletted generals, the procession formed for its annual formal progress down the principal street—the Camino Real—to the government building at its end.

As the band struck up, and the movement began, like a bird of ill omen the S. J. Pizzoni, Jr., the swiftest steamship of the Vesuvius line, glided into the harbor in plain view of the president and his train.

INDIANA CAPITOL IS GRACED BY OWEN BUST

Women's Grateful Tribute to Memory of Great Man.

Indianapolis, March 3.—Robert Dale Owen was honored for his efforts to put woman on a legal equality with man in Indiana, women's suffrage was mentioned as the next step in the advancement of propaganda to which he lent his strength and a bronze bust of Owen was given to the state of Indiana with appropriate ceremony at the statehouse.

Governor Marshall accepted the gift with a tribute to the women of the state, who, he said had done great honor to one the men had forgotten, but whose work was forever preserved in the great school system of the state. In accepting the bust from the Robert Dale Owen Memorial association, Governor Marshall paid tribute to the appreciation and the energy shown by the women of Indiana in erecting a monument to the memory of a man who had done so much for them.

Court Martial Takes Up the Case of Admiral Barry.

San Francisco, March 3.—A letter from a naval officer at Bremerton says that a courtmartial on Rear Admiral Barry was held at the navy yard there and that much evidence of officers of the West Virginia was taken, although some important testimony was not secured because of the absence of several officers of the vessel who are now at Mare Island. The charges against Barry, which forced his resignation in this city, are unprintable, but the authorities are understood to be determined to get at the bottom of the scandal and to see that the rear admiral does not escape exposure.

MURDER LAYS BARE A SCANDAL IN HIGH LIFE

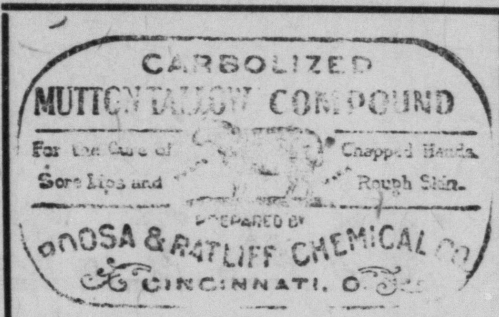

Favorite Lady In Waiting to Queen Helena Slain.

Rome, March 3.—Princess Giulia Trigona Di Sant Elia, a lady-in-waiting to Queen Helena, who was the wife of Prince Di Sant Elia, was stabbed and killed by Baron Vincenzo Paterno, twenty-four years old, a cavalry lieutenant and a member of a noble Sicilian family. The baron then attempted to commit suicide with a revolver, but failed. He wounded himself so severely, however, that he was taken to a hospital. The tragedy was enacted at the Hotel Rebecchino, a third-rate house, where the baron had engaged a room. Later the princess joined him and they locked themselves in the room. Being unknown to the hotel people, they attracted no attention until the discharge of a revolver startled the attendants. The police were called and they burst in the door of the room. They found the princess dead on the bed. She was undressed and covered with blood. There were two deep gashes in her neck, and beside her body was a bloody hunting knife. The baron was lying on the floor in a swoon with a bullet wound in his head near the ear.

The princess was thirty-six years old, and was one of the most beautiful women in Rome. She was a prominent society leader. She resided at the Quirinal, where she was Queen Helena's favorite lady-in-waiting. The liaison between the princess and the baron having become an open secret, the removal of the princess from the court was threatened, and this threat would have been carried out had it not been for the fact that the king only a short time ago succeeded in persuading the prince to remove his wife.

It is stated that the princess notified the baron that their liaison must be ended, whereupon he insisted upon a farewell meeting. The princess granted this and it took place, with the result that the princess was murdered.

You too will probably notice this advertisement.

If you love good coffee but do not do the buying in your home you too should read this ad. through.

Very, very few people know how to buy coffee, for coffee is a matter of Taste—Flavor—Aroma, something you can't exactly take hold of and say, "this is it." Good coffee and poor coffee is good or poor, largely, according to the taste of the people drinking it. Of course there is a great deal of genuinely poor coffee—coffee kept in open bins or sold by irresponsible peddlers—coffee with a flat, stale flavor because the natural oil of the coffee berry has escaped. Yet thousands have to drink that kind of coffee because the one who buys doesn't know better or doesn't stop to think—or expects to save. In reality it is the poorest economy for it takes much more of that kind of coffee to make a good cup than the right kind properly packed and sealed.

Golden Sun Coffee is grown, ripened, roasted, blended and packed by the oldest and largest house of coffee experts in the world. It is put up in pound packets, hermetically sealed at the critical moment after roasting to save for your table all the rich, natural volatile oil which is the life of the coffee berry. Golden Sun Coffee is put up in five different blends to suit the five distinct tastes of all coffee drinkers. Karé is coffee of a keen, tangy, sparkling character. Navarre for those who want a piquant, high-flavored coffee. Briardale produces the soft, mellow, velvety cup. Vienna is rich, savory, and aromatic in flavor and bouquet. Mocha & Java gives that distinct brew produced only by the most expert blending of these famous grades.

THE EXPENSES OF ASSEMBLY

More Money Needed to Foot the Bills.

NOT ENOUGH APPROPRIATED

It Has Been Found That the Legislative Appropriation Bill Underestimated Expense of Session by About $7,000—But at That the Assembly Will Get Through on $13,000 Less Than That of 1909.

Indianapolis, March 3.—As estimated by Ed D. Donnell, the purchasing agent of the legislature, in a report made to the house committee on legislative expenses, the appropriation of $120,000 made at the beginning of the session to pay the expenses of the present legislature will be about $7,000 short of the necessary amount. This, however, is $13,000 less than the expense of the legislature of 1909, which cost the state $140,000. Of this $13,000 saved, more than $6,000 of it will be in the printing and stationery bills. Mr. Donnell was selected as purchasing agent because he is a practical printer and because of his knowledge of the amount of supplies necessary. Because the session has not yet ended it is impossible to tell what the total bill for supplies will be, but Mr. Donnell thinks the estimate he has made is a fair one.

The total expenditure for the salaries and mileage of senators will be $20,069. The payments to employees in the senate will total $21,484.50. In the house the salary and mileage for the full session is $40,347.20, and the payments to employees $24,559.50. The totals of these items in the senate is $41,484.50, and in the house $64,906.70.

A Model of Its Kind.

The house passed the cold storage bill, from the senate, with only four votes cast against it. The measure was not amended in the house, and was to go direct to the governor. The bill is said to be the first of its kind passed in any state of the Union, and the food and drug authorities of the state expect it to become a model for other states. It was suggested to H. E. Barnard, state food and drug commissioner, by Governor Marshall. Mr. Barnard wrote to H. W. Wiley, national chemist, for suggestions for the bill, and on Mr. Wiley's suggestion the measure was largely based. It was subsequently approved by the hotel keepers' association of the state and later, after some changes were made, by the state association of cold storage men. It limits to nine months the time that food products may be kept in cold storage, and provides for the labeling of cold storage products when offered for sale, at either wholesale or retail.

In Danger of Death.

In spite of the fact that the house passed the good roads bill in the teeth of a powerful lobby against it, the senate has shown no disposition to pay any attention to the bill, and it is now said that the bill stands a good chance of death. This is the bill which is aimed at the practice of "farming out" road tax contracts by corporations, a practice which men from every part of the state have declared is one detrimental to good roads.

The civil procedure bill, from the senate, designed to simplify pleadings in civil cases, was passed by the house by a vote of 56 to 34. The bill was amended in the house so as not to apply to pending litigation.

The house advanced the senate bill carrying a new state constitution to third reading. The minority members protested against the advancement of the measure on the afternoon of the day the bill had been laid on their desks in printed form, and threats to break the quorum were heard, but nothing came of them.

The constitution bill was later passed by the house by a strict party vote, the minority members filing protests as their names were called.

Good Roads Bill Perished.

The senate killed the highway commission bill, 18 votes being cast for it and 27 against it. This was one of the good roads bills favored by the good roads congress. This bill, drawn to create a state highway board and establish the office of state highway commissioner, also provided for a state highway fund and for state aid in the construction and maintenance of roads. The object of the bill was to furnish a means whereby roads in the state might be of uniformly good construction.

The license fee and restrictive features of the Proctor liquor regulation bill, as amended by the house, will not be disturbed by the senate and house conference committee. The conferees agreed that the house amendments concerning the license fees and restriction of saloons to one to each 500 population should stand. According to a member of the committee, the only important question under discussion by the committee is a plan to harmonize the bill's provisions as to what shall constitute a bad moral character for a saloon keeper and prevent him from obtaining a license.

The corrupt practices bill passed the house. The bill defines what are corrupt practices in connection with primaries, elections, caucuses, conventions and elections, and provides penalties for violations.

SENATE FORCED BY FILIBUSTER

Big Appropriation Measures Brought to Front.

KILL SERVICE PENSION BILL

Senator Lodge's Point of Order Against Measure That Would Have Distributed $50,000,000 Among the Old Soldiers of the Country, Was Sustained and the Bill Was Ruled Out—Big Supply Bills Passed.

Washington, March 3.—On motion of Senator McCumber and with the approval of the friends of the tariff board bill, the senate, after considering the bill creating a tariff board from 11 o'clock until 5 last evening, proceeded to displace the bill as the unfinished business and took up general appropriation bills and passed the pension appropriation, diplomatic and consular, coast fortification and military academy bills.

The service pensions bill, carrying appropriations of nearly $50,000,000, which was passed by the house and which the president had indicated that he would veto, was put to sleep in the senate as far as this session of congress is concerned. The measure was offered as an amendment to the general pension bill, whereupon Senator Lodge made a point of order against its consideration, on the ground that it came under the rule that includes general legislation.

Senator Curtis resisted the point of order. He declared that if the federal government could afford to issue bonds to build the Panama canal and spend millions on the navy and the army, it ought to raise money to provide for the old soldiers.

Vice President Sherman sustained the point of order made by Senator Lodge and ruled the amendment out on the ground that it is general legislation.

Tariff Commission Bill Displaced.

It was not until 5 o'clock that the Republican insurgents consented to have the tariff commission displaced in favor of appropriation measures. This gave the senate the first respite it had in six hours from the Democratic filibuster against the tariff commission bill. An attempt had been made by the Democrats soon after the senate met to force the consideration of the appropriation bills, but this was voted down, 55 to 23, and the tariff commission bill was still before the senate as the regular order of business.

It was evident from this vote that the Republican regulars were standing by the compromise agreement they made with insurgents on the basis of the Lorimer case and intended to see that they got a vote if possible on the tariff commission proposition. The Republican insurgents soon became convinced that the Democratic filibuster was on in real earnest, and then the efforts to compromise were renewed. Several of the Democrats proposed to the Republican leaders that the Canadian reciprocity agreement be tacked to the tariff board bill as an amendment and that both measures be passed. The Republicans could not agree to this, and then the Democrats offered to vote on the tariff board bill provided the Republicans would agree to a vote on Canadian reciprocity immediately afterward. This offer also was rejected.

Drove Smoot Into a Corner.

Senator Bankhead of Alabama charged that the regular Republicans of the senate had entered into a conspiracy to defeat the big appropriations bill, apparently with a view to embarrassing President Taft. The Democrats succeeded in driving Senator Smoot into a corner in debate and forcing him to disclose the details of the bargain which the regular Republicans had made with the insurgents in regard to a vote on the Lorimer case. Senator Smoot's statement disclosed that the Republicans not only had agreed to make the tariff commission bill the unfinished business of the senate, but had pledged themselves to put it ahead of the appropriation bills, carrying hundreds of millions of dollars.

Senator Bankhead declared that he wished to show the Republicans up in their true light, and he therefore moved that the senate proceed to the consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill. This was voted down, 56 to 24, the Republican senators who had made their deal for a vote on the Lorimer case again standing solidly with the insurgents. "The senate," said Mr. Bankhead, "seems determined to place the appropriation bills back of the tariff board bill, and I want the country to know that the Republicans will be responsible for the necessity for an extra session."

One or two further efforts were made by the Democrats to force consideration of the appropriation bills before the insurgents finally hoisted a signal of distress and consented to their agreement to have the tariff commission displaced.

It was then that the senate got down to the only business that it had transacted in two days with the exception of the vote on the Lorimer case. In the one hour it passed four of the general appropriation bills, carrying altogether about $174,000,000.

INTENDED TO PAY MONEY BACK

In the Meantime, However, His Latest Venture Practiced at the Expense of Earlham College, Got the Police After Him and Jesse Seavers Now Faces a Term of Imprisonment at Jeffersonville.

Richmond, Ind., March 3.—From Lima, O., where he was arrested at the Y. M. C. A., Jesse Seavers, who recently defrauded Earlham college of $75, was brought to Richmond. Seavers came to Earlham about a month ago, and, after getting acquainted with several members of the faculty, signed up for three courses in preparation for the ministry. He presented a check on a Lafayette bank, which was certified by the college treasurer and cashed by Seavers at the Union National bank. Seavers immediately disappeared.

Seavers entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10 and sentenced to the Jeffersonville reformatory for two to fourteen years. Seavers told his attorney that he was prompted to raise money by fraudulent means in order to get funds to pursue his religious studies. He intended, he said, to keep a strict account of all money thus obtained, and, when able to do so, to reimburse colleges and individuals whom he had defrauded.

According to the memorandums kept by Seavers, the total amount of money he had obtained from colleges and individuals was $608.

FOUND AT LAST

Escaped Georgia Convict Was Chief of Police at Danville, Va.

Danville, Va., March 3.—The man who for five years has held the position of chief of police of Danville under the name of R. E. Morris was shown to be Edgar Stripling, a murderer and an escaped prisoner from Harris county, Georgia, who gained his liberty while serving a life term. He is being taken back to Georgia to begin the sentence pronounced against him fourteen years ago. Without warning he was confronted by an officer with requisition papers to carry him back, and he at once acknowledged his identity, making no effort to deny it. Not for a moment did he lose his nerve as he replied, "Yes, I am the man you want. I am guilty."

He was in uniform when arrested. In a steady voice he was heard to say over the telephone, "I won't be home tonight. Mr. Smith has come for me. You know, down in Georgia."

The arrest of Stripling occurred on the evening of the expiration of his term as chief of police of this city. The board of police commissioners have a meeting scheduled for tonight for the election of a chief. Morris was a candidate for chief, and although he was being opposed, every indication pointed to his re-election.

FINALLY FILLED IT

New French Premier Makes Up His Cabinet at Last.

Paris, March 3.—Prime Minister Monis has completed his cabinet and the members called in a body on President Fallieres in the Elysee palace. Crowds gathered in the street outside the palace and cheered ironically as the new cabinet filed in. The ministry as finally constructed is as follows:

Minister of foreign affairs, M. Cruppi; minister of marine, M. Theophile Delcasse; minister of war, M. Henri M. Bertaux; minister of finance, M. Caillaux; minister of justice, M. Perrier; minister of public instruction, M. Steeg; minister of public works, M. Dumont; minister of commerce, M. Masse; minister of agriculture, M. Jules Pams; minister of labor, M. Paul Boncour; minister of the colonies, M. Messimy.

City Merger Proposed.

Urbana, Ill., March 3.—As a result of a speech delivered by President Taft on his recent visit here the mayors of Urbana and Champaign have inaugurated a movement to unite the two cities. A committee from each city will discuss ways and means.

LOCAL NEWS

The funeral services of Joseph Farthing were held this morning at the residence in Andersonville.

George Noble, who has been ill at the home of his father, Jasper Noble, in Jersey City for several days is improving.

One often hears the blind statement made at random that there are "lots of empty houses in Rushville." A gentleman was heard to remark yesterday that he was told the same thing, but he had been looking for a house for two weeks without being able to find one. The fact is "desirable" houses are scarce in this city at the present time.

REFUSE INCREASE TO GAME WARDENS

Prejudice Against State Officials Causes Legislature to Kill Bill Providing For More Pay.

Prejudice against State game wardens caused the defeat of the Curtis bill requiring fishing licenses and giving the fish and game commissioners the right to pay his deputies $75, instead of $60 a month, says the Indianapolis Sun.

Representative McGinnis described the game wardens as "scalawags and scoundrels, who ought to be sent to the penitentiary instead of getting an increase in salary." Representative Wells and Clore added a few kind remarks of a similar tenor.

Representative Askren and Cravens sought to show that the bill made no change in the present law except to require a license of persons fishing outside their own counties and adjoining counties, the money to be used in stocking the lakes and streams with fish.

But it was a hopeless task and forty-four members evidently were in the same position as Representative Mitchell, who said that he would lose 300 votes in his county were he to vote for the measure.

LOCALS HOPE FOR VICTORY

Will Play Madison High School Here Tonight.

The fastest basket ball game of the season is looked for tonight when the locals meet the high school team from Madison. Last Friday, Madison defeated Rushville by the narrow margin of one point and the local team is going into the game determined to retrieve that defeat. There will be a curtain raiser between the Sophomore and the Freshman teams. The big game will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Knecht nominated Tony Schrichte and he was elected by a narrow margin, the race being spirited.

H. G. Hackman nominated John Reardon for vice-president and Will Bliss placed Charles Mauzy's name in nomination for the same office. In a vote by ballot, Mr. Reardon was chosen, overcoming his opponent by a few votes.

H. G. Hackman nominated Will O. Feudner for secretary, which was given a second by Jack Knecht. There being no other nominations, Floyd Hogsett moved that the selection be made unanimous, which was done.

G. P. Hunt was reelected treasurer by the whole vote of the association by reason of his valuable services and the fact that he is now carrying on negotiations in various matters for the club in his own name.

Each member wrote on his ballot the names of five men for the board of directors. The five with the highest vote and who were declared to be elected are: L. L. Allen, Earl H. Payne, Ben A. Cox, H. G. Hackman and Will Bliss.

After the election of officers, the new president, Tony Schrichte, made a brief speech of acceptance. "In accepting this office," said Mr. Schrichte, in part, "I will say that I wish that my opponent had been victorious, but I will do the best I can under the circumstances. I believe the merchants will do good. They have accomplished much in the first year of their life and I see no reason why their future years should not be more fruitful. The lights, the new brick streets and 'Big Wednesday' are partial achievements of the association. I come to you as a Moses and I hope you will hold up my arms so that I can give you all that is in men. What we need is more push and vim. When you get hold of a knocker, sit down on him. A house divided against itself can never stand. Talk for your town and you will be well compensated for it. Don't be strangled on a goat and then go swallow an elephant. I want to compliment the out-going officers for their valuable services during the last year. I believe this association is only beginning."

A complimentary vote was tendered the old officials, in which many remarks were made concerning the appreciation of the members for the retiring officers.

The secretary and treasurer reported on the financial condition of the association. They showed a balance in the treasury, which is not quite large enough to meet the bill for the last number of lights finished. More of that money will be collected in a few days. The secretary showed that $536 had been collected in dues and entrance fees and that $27.50 still remained uncollected. There are sixty-eight members in good standing. The report showed that $192.97 had been expended for the regular expenses and that a balance of $343.03 remained. A separate report was made for the press committee. The two reports were referred to the auditing committee.

H. G. Hackman moved that a smoker be held at the next regular meeting to arouse enthusiasm and interest and it met with general approval. The merchants want all the members and the new ones which they expect to have by that time, to come out. They wish to emphasize the fact that free cigars will be furnished. It is planned to make the meeting a good fellowship affair.

In closing the president said that he would announce the personnel of the various committees before the next meeting. He said that he would appoint the membership committee in a few days so that they could begin the campaign for new members at once.
